

The new Magni RTH 5.18: Versatility, efficiency and comfort

A new series of updates make the RTH 5.18 the benchmark for site operations. Discover what's new on this innovative machine.

Thanks to its compactness, the Magni RTH 5.18 is the ideal telehandler for site operations. In addition, its compatibility with a wide range of attachments enhances the concept of versatility, reducing the number of machines needed to carry out different operations, thus saving time and money.

In order to anticipate the market's needs, Magni has decided to update this model, taking into account the needs and working conditions of each operator and increasing maneuverability.

In fact, the latest version of the RTH 5.18 features 360° continuous turret rotation, now available on the entire RTH range. The upgrade offers unparalleled flexibility, allowing loads to be positioned accurately and quickly. In addition, the upgrade optimizes the time it takes to reposition the machine and therefore the overall efficiency of moving around the work area.

Comfort is also at the heart of the improvements, with the introduction of air conditioning as standard, ensuring a comfortable and productive environment in any environment.

The new Magni RTH 5.18 redefines the standards of versatility, efficiency and comfort, providing the perfect solution for the toughest challenges. Learn more about its features by visiting the dedicated product page.
